INCREASED COAST ARTILLERY.

Encourages in Every Possible Way of Small Arms Practice Among Regulars and Militia.

Recommends Enlistment of Colored Men in Artillery or Their Transfer to That Corps From Colored Cavalry and Infantry.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The annual report of Maj. Gen. Henry C. Corbin to the secretary of war was made public Tuesday. In his report he favors the re-establishment of the canteen, and recommends the enlistment of colored men in the artillery or their transfer to that corps from the colored cavalry and infantry, and strongly advocates the increase of the coast artillery by at least one-half, and the raising of the pay of the non-commissioned officers and of such privates in the corps as have shown themselves qualified as expert artillerists.

He favors the encouragement in every possible way of small arms practice both in the regular establishment and the national guard, and favors the detail of the best army experts in rifle practice for instruction of target associations outside the service.

Gen. Corbin calls attention to the "very unsatisfactory condition of the accessories and surroundings of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor," and strongly urges an appropriation for Fort Hamilton, N. Y., and Fort Warren, Mass., citing particularly the wretched condition at the former. It is recommended that the offices remaining in the military secretary's department of the army be transferred to the general staff.

It is said that the parties met in a school-house where Jackson is employed as teacher, and both sides began firing at once. Alexander Jackson received the contents of a shotgun in his left side, and is badly injured. Some of the other parties were also injured. These men have long been enemies. It is reported that both sides are preparing for further trouble. The place where the fight occurred is about 20 miles from Jackson, Ky.

THE PORTER MURDER.

William Van Dalsen Confessed to Killing the Woman.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 21.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Fannie Porter, who was found in a room at Jackson and Market streets with her throat cut, was cleared up Tuesday by the arrest and confession of William Van Dalsen. Van Dalsen was found at the home of a relative at New Albany, Ind. He admitted killing Mrs. Porter, of whom he was enamored. The bloody razor was found in Van Dalsen's pocket. Van Dalsen's only defense was that he and the woman quarreled and that she drew the razor from her stocking, whereupon he wrested it from her and cut her throat. The police, however, assert that the prisoner was afraid the woman would divulge secrets of his career.

THE REGISTRATION LAW.

Constitutionality of the Act Argued Before Court of Appeals.

ATTACK THE FORTS

Interest in the Far East War is Again Concentrated on Port Arthur.

THE JAPANESE WERE REPULSED.

They Landed Strong Reinforcements at Dalny and Will Storm Fortress, Warships Taking Part.

In That Event Rr. Adm. Wren's Division Will Go Out and Engage the Japanese—All Russia Awaits the News.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—Interest is again concentrated upon Port Arthur, owing to the receipts from foreign sources of news that a general storming of the fortifications there has begun. A few belated telegrams from Gen. Stoessel, the commander at Port Arthur, published Tuesday afternoon recording the repulse of the Japanese and continued attacks, strengthen confidence in the ability of the defenders to hold out despite the furious onslaughts being made on them. The last attack mentioned by Gen. Stoessel took place the night of September 14 and was directed against redoubt No. 8, which protects the water supply of the city. The redoubt is about two miles beyond the line of permanent forts and the attack upon this shows that the Japanese were not then within striking distance of the main fortress.

Reports from Shanghai that some of the defenses had fallen into the hands of the Japanese as a result of a general assault on September 20 are not confirmed from Russian sources.

The telegrams brought to Chefoo by Prince Radziwill have not yet reached the war office. It is understood that these dispatches contain details of the landing of strong Japanese reinforcements at Dalny, which would tend to confirm the belief that it is the intention of the Japanese to storm the fortress and that the warships will probably take part in the attack. In this event Rr. Adm. Wren's division will doubtless go out and engage the Japanese fleet.

All Russia is anxiously awaiting news from the beleaguered garrison. Public feeling has been aroused to a tension by the dreadful picture given by Prince Radziwill of the sufferings of the Russian army there.

The sensational announcement that Gen. Kuroki has crossed the Hun river unopposed and that the whole Japanese army is advancing upon Mukden, is overshadowed by anxiety for Port Arthur. Moreover, the announcement relative to Kuroki does not receive complete credence here, as being in direct contradiction of official news issued by the general staff. Gen. Kuropatkin announced only two days ago that there was not a single Japanese east of Bentsia Putzo. How, it is asked, could Gen. Kuroki, with 100,000 men slip past Gen. Rennenkampf's Cossacks and cross the Hun river near the Fushan coal mines, 30 miles east of Mukden.

A NEW ANAESTHETIC.

It Promises to Revolutionize the Practice of Dentistry.

Washington, Sept. 21.—After three years of patient research two professors of Geneva, Switzerland, have discovered a new anaesthetic which promises to revolutionize the practice of dentistry. In reporting this to the state department Consul Liefeld, at Freiberg, Germany, states that finding that the nervous system was influenced by colored light, the professors soon perceived after experimenting with each hue that blue had an extraordinary soothing effect on the nerves. The consul says that a tooth may be painlessly extracted with none of the after effects on the system by shutting up the patient in a dark room and exposing his eyes to a blue light of 16 candle power for three minutes, causing him to lose all sense of pain although at the same time retaining his senses.

Nolan, of Nashville, Tenn.; grand scribe, J. Frank Grant, of Baltimore, re-elected without opposition; grand treasurer, M. Richard Muckle, of Philadelphia, re-elected, no opposition.

After the election of officers it was decided by unanimous vote that Grand Sire-elect Wright, who is in feeble health, might be installed in office at his home in Allentown, Pa.

DROWNED IN PRISON.

Fell Asleep With His Head Lying on a Drain Pipe.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—With his head submerged in a drain trough in his cell Homer Augustus, a prisoner at the Woodlawn police station, was found dead Tuesday morning when an officer made his rounds to awaken the inmates. Augustus lay down to sleep on the floor and his head had stopped the flow of water through the outlet into the drain pipe, resulting in his death by drowning.

Augustus was put into the cell Monday night suffering from intoxication. He asked Sergt. O'Brien to turn the gas lower so that he might sleep. When O'Brien visited the cells at 7 o'clock the man was lying face downward, his head covered with water, which runs through the drain trough in the cell.

THE COTTON WORKERS' STRIKE.

It Is Believed It Will Be Settled in a Short Time.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 21.—The first intimation of a settlement of the strike in the cotton mills in this city which began July 25, came Tuesday when it became known that one of the manufacturers had bought a large quantity of raw material to be delivered the latter part of October and that other manufacturers were trying to place similar orders. It is the general belief that any settlement of the strike within the next two or three weeks will be in favor of the operatives. The strikers still express their determination not to return to work under the wage reduction of 12½ per cent., which was the cause of the strike.

ANNUAL REUNION.

Members of Society of Army of the Cumberland Assembled in Indianapolis.

PUBLIC EXERCISES WERE HELD.

Letters From President Roosevelt, Judge Parker and Whitelaw Reid Were Read.

Chattanooga Was Chosen As the Permanent Meeting Place of the Society and Date Changed to Middle of October.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 21.—To the shrill bugle notes of "Assembly" which 40 years ago was stirring music upon the battlefield, the gray haired veterans of the civil war on whose memory are graven awful pictures of battle and carnage, and in whose ears linger the roll of musketry and the roar of cannon, assembled in the Claypool auditorium Tuesday night for the public exercises which marked the closing of the first day's session of the 35th annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland.

Deafening cheers greeted Gen. Wilmon W. Blackmar, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., as he entered the hall at the head of a column of old comrades in their uniforms of blue.

Judge Daniel W. Howe welcomed the visitors. Gen. John T. Wilder, of Knoxville, Tenn., who during the bloody campaigns of the Cumberland army commanded the famous "Wilder brigade," responded.

Following the response Gen. Boynton read letters from President Roosevelt, Whitelaw Reid and Judge Alton B. Parker.

A burst of cheers followed the reading of the letters.

For the first time in the history of the society a private, Orlando A. Somers, of Kokomo, Ind., delivered the annual oration.

Mr. Somers reviewed the history of the Army of the Cumberland from 1861 when it was mobilized until the close of the war. When he reached the climax of his oration, speaking of the battle of Missionary Ridge, at which time the whole battle front of the Cumberland army, two miles in length, contrary and in violation of the orders of the commanding officer, charged up the ridge to a height of 600 feet and swept the confederates from their entrenchments, the applause was deafening and for many minutes the eyes of the old warriors were dimmed with tears.

"The Grand Army of the Republic," the subject of an address by Gen. Blackmar, elicited great applause. Gen. C. H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who followed Gen. Blackmar, grew reminiscent in his "Talk With Veterans," which provoked both laughter and deep emotion.

The exercises closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," and as the trumpeter blew the solemn "Taps" the members collected in little groups to renew old friendships and recount tales.

The committee on selection for time and place for annual meetings reported unanimously the selection of Chattanooga as the permanent meeting place of the society. The time of annual meetings was changed to the middle of October. The nominating committee made its report during the afternoon session. The following officers were chosen:

President, Gen. Henry Boynton, of Washington, D. C.; corresponding secretary, Maj. John Tweedale, U. S. A., Washington, D. C.; recording secretary, Col. John W. Steele, Oberlin, O.; treasurer, Gen. Frank G. Smith, U. S. A.; historian, Col. G. C. Kniffin; executive committee, Gen. James Barnett, Cleveland, chairman; Gen. C. H. Grosvenor, Gen. J. G. Parkhurst, Capt. H. S. Chamberlain, Capt. J. W. Folwy, Private Orlando A. Somers, Gen. Smith, D. T. Atkins, Maj. J. M. Farquhar.

A vice-president for each state was selected, among them being Gen. Jas. Barnett, of Ohio; Col. C. E. Briant, of Indiana, and Capt. John Speed, of Kentucky.

Weather Forecast.

Fair and continued cool to night; frost in the mountain districts. Thursday fair.

The good news continues to pour in from the other side. Now comes Representative Joseph W. Babcock, Chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee, who reiterates the opinion expressed some weeks ago that the Republican party is likely to lose the House of Representatives in the coming election. The chances, he says, favor the Democrats because of "the peculiar conditions existing in many of the Congressional districts." Joseph may call it what he pleases; the "Old Guard" Republicans of the Ninth Kentucky district say the "conditions" are rotten down here.

It is with genuine pleasure that we print to-day the announcement of Hon. Virgil McKnight, who is a candidate for the Democratic renomination to the General Assembly at the approaching primary. Mr. McKnight has a card elsewhere in which he indulges in no "fulsome praise or self-depreciation," but asks a bestowal of the honor, as is customary, for the second time. He is not one of the men who never make a mistake, but frankly admits that some of the votes he cast at the last session, he would withdraw, believing them to be errors. The county's best interests ought to be safe in such honest hands.

In this issue appears the formal announcement of Mr. Thomas D. Slattery's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of County Attorney. Mr. Slattery has been a practicing lawyer for nearly ten years and his fitness and capacity for the office will be conceded by all. He was born and reared in Mason County and received his education in the common schools and at Center College. He studied law under ex-Governor J. Proctor Knott and has a fine legal mind. He comes of Democratic parentage and is strong in the faith with the courage of his convictions. He was for several years Chairman of the Democratic County Executive Committee and under his clever administration the party showed increased majorities for which he is entitled to great credit. On account of his signal success as a party manager the State Central Committee has chosen him County Chairman of the present National campaign. Without solicitation in 1903 he was given the party nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney and made a gallant fight for that office. He failed of election by a close margin and his admirable conduct in defeat has increased the admiration of his old friends and brought him many new ones.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

As a Hungarian Newspaper Pictured Him Some Months Ago.

[Saturday Evening Post.]

European appreciation of American politics is more picturesque than original. A few weeks before the death of the late Senator Hanna, the following paragraph appeared in a Hungarian newspaper:

"Theodore Roosevelt, the American President, has a new rival for the Presidency. There is about to be an election in the United States, and Mark Hanna, a powerful man, will oppose him. It is difficult to understand clearly the American conditions in this country, but we learn upon investigation that before he became President, Roosevelt was a cowboy, and the cowboys being the dominant party in the United States elevated their companion to the Presidency.

"After Roosevelt's election, the cowboys demanded the best offices, including two members of the Cabinet, but Roosevelt ignored their demands, so they have decided to avenge themselves and defeat him for re-election. The cowboys wield a tremendous power in the United States west of New York City, and they have offered the Presidency to Hanna.

"A delegation called on him at his palace in the State of Cleveland and tendered him the nomination. Hanna has never been a cowboy, but, being ambitious, he has accepted the nomination, and it is thought he will be elected. We learn that Hanna will make his campaign on a wild mustang. He is an old man, but a daring and skillful rider. In his youth he carried off high honors as an equestrian and he is decorated with numerous medals."

The historic old home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey Rice was thrown open to receive their many friends Monday, September 19th, from 4 till 6, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. The parlors were beautifully decorated in orange and as the aged couple sat in the softly-lighted parlor and received the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends, they made a lasting impression upon all those who were so fortunate to be present. Quite a number of elegant and useful presents were received from the host of friends that came from far and near. The punch bowl was presided over by Miss Worthington, while Mrs. Bullock and the granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rice did the honors in the dining room. Those on the receiving committee were Miss Ethel Rice, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. William Walker and Mrs. Dr. Stevenson, while in the adjoining room the coffee was served by Miss Rosser, assisted by Mr. Jewel and Mr. Jeff Rice, the sons and daughters of the estimable couple did everything in their power to make the occasion enjoyable. One of the charming features of the celebration was the music which was very delightfully rendered by a string band. A number of guests were present from Lexington, Mayslick and Maysville. The following lines of poetry were dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Rice:

How many years ago, my love,
How many years ago,
Since you, a merry-hearted girl,
Of rustic maids the very pearl,
And I a lad just fresh from town
With cheeks as pale as yours were brown,
Roamed where the harvest covered the land,
To view the reaper's sturdy band,
While maidens from their sickles keen,
Snatched the bright flowers the corn between.

How many years ago, my love,
How many years ago,
Since, work forgotten for a while,—
Encouraged by your greeting smile
I made it holiday to lie
And read your looks half kind, half shy;
And watch beneath your elm trees shade
The russet ears that bent and swayed
Until we heard south breezes borne,
The rustling of a wedding morn.

In some such hours as those, my love,
In some such hours as those,
The while we culled the bind weed fair
And crimson poppy for your hair
Or with the trailing vetches bound
A rural zone your trim waist round
I think that ere my lips confessed
Their secret it was nearly guessed,
As bolder grown I asked from thine
The little word that made you mine.

In that long vanished hour, my love,
That hour so long ago,
As hand in hand we homeward went
Yet lingered oft in our content
To listen to a gleeful song
Or help a weary child along,
Or watch the moon when all was still
Come glimmering o'er the subdued hill,
It may be we are foolish, yet
I ne'er have wished we had not met.

For all our vanished years since then—
The fifty years that's past—
Though they have sadly checkered been,
Have had their glints of joy between;
However scant all else might prove
We've kept our patience and our love;
Ne'er found ourselves of aught bereft
But counted up how much was left;
Or if despair came hovering near,
Looked up and, looking, ceased to fear.

And though these vanished years, my love—
These years that fleet so fast—
Have stolen from your life its youth,
They have not touched its modest truth;
Thy smile, perchance, more rarely seen,
Is sweet as it hath ever been,
And all the sorrows of our life
Have found you still the faithful wife.
Ah, love, indeed I little knew
How much I won in winning you.

And in the hours to come, my love,—
The hours that yet may come,—
We standing on the eternal verge,
Yet singing no funeral dirge,
Will still be glad that life goes on
For others though our goal be won;
The harvest, with its golden grain
Has blessed the teeming soil again
And in these sunny autumn hours,
Gives us once more the wedding flowers.

To the Democrats of the Eighty-Seventh Legislative District.

In announcing to you that I shall be an applicant for your votes for a renomination to the General Assembly at the primary election Nov. 26th. I shall not indulge in fulsome praise or self depreciation, both of which are distasteful to reader and writer alike.

The custom of the Democrats of this county is to bestow the honor the second time. The session is so short that it was impossible to do much. It may be that I shall be unable to do much at the next session; but this I do know that perseverance backed by intelligent effort will in the end prevail. Some votes I cast last winter I would withdraw as I now believe them to be errors. But of my official acts the record of the General Assembly will tell and you must be the judges of the folly or wisdom of my votes. I leave the matter in your hands, knowing that your verdict will be for your best interests.

Thanking you for your votes at the last primary and asking for them once more, I am truly &c.,
VIRGIL MCKNIGHT.

THIS IS THE LIMIT.

Parties Sue Dealer For $500 Because Seed Bought Did Not Produce "Tip Top" Cantaloupes.

A firm at Lexington have been sued for $500 damages on account of an alleged mistake in selling cucumber and other seed for cantaloupe seed.

The plaintiffs allege that they bought three pounds of what the defendants represented as cantaloupe seed and planted two acres of them. Instead of a fine variety of cantaloupe, however, two acres of cucumbers and inferior melons came up. If the crop had been the genuine seed, the plaintiffs say, they would have cleared $250 an acre.

The price paid was $7.40, which, plaintiffs claim, was the worth of genuine seed, the other kind selling for 75 cents a pound.

The plaintiffs aver that the seed "were planted at a proper time and in the proper manner and in good ground for the growth of said cantaloupes, which ground was well and properly prepared and in Fayette County." They say that thereafter the said seed germinated and produced plants and vines, some of which vines proved to be cucumber vines and the other of which vines proved to be a variety of cantaloupes which were not "Tip-Top" cantaloupes, and which were worthless.

HARD TO EXPLAIN.

If This Had Occurred Anywhere Else Than Maysville Our Readers Might Doubt It.

It's hard to explain how the public can continue to doubt in the face of such evidence. If this were published anywhere else than in Maysville, if the statement given below went the rounds of the press, readers in Boston or New Orleans might doubt it. But it's very different when the testimony given comes from a friend, perhaps a neighbor. It is public expression of a local citizen and can be easily investigated.

Mr. Larmon Dawson, residing at 934 East Second street, says: "The quick relief from pain in my back, which followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills proved them to possess remarkable healing powers. I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store, corner West Second and Market streets. From the satisfactory results obtained I can advise all in need of a kidney medicine to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."
